Slim Line Transmitters and Double Operating Range Highlight Prestige 2014 Line Up

New Line Shipping Now in Time for Remote Start Season

HAUPPAUGE, NY – SEPTEMBER 25, 2014 – VOXX Electronics Corp \(VEC\), a wholly-owned subsidiary of VOXX International Corp. (NASDAQ: VOXX), today announced the 2014 Prestige Security and Remote Start Line highlighted by some of the slimmest transmitters in the market and including new features like double the operating range!

The 2014 Prestige Security & Remote Start systems start off with all new transmitter designs combining some of the industry's thinnest transmitters at 0.38" of an inch thick and giving the systems a boost of up to 2,500 feet of operating range. In addition, we've tweaked the electronics and specs to provide improved performance and programming enhancements. The new control modules are 35% smaller to make installation in tight spaces easier and the new systems feature Web Based programming, another time saving install feature.

"Remote Start and Security remain one of our key product lines at VOXX Electronics", said Tom Malone, president of the company; and this year's line-up takes style and function to the next level with the addition of some of the slimmest and hottest looking transmitters on the market. In remote start it is all about performance and the quality and reliability of our Prestige systems are what keep us in the forefront of this category. We continue to provide our 12 Volt retail partners with the right product to meet consumer demand at the price that keeps them profitable."
